

Editor's Note

I am pleased to announce that Dr. T. Kevin O'Brien is now a Coeditor of the Journal. Kevin's duties will primarily consist of handling the paper review process of the Journal. Kevin has served for over six years on the Journal's Editorial Board. In addition to being recognized internationally as a pioneer in the characterization and analysis of delamination behavior in composite materials, Kevin has edited two ASTM Special Technical Publications (STPs). I feel that the Journal is fortunate to have Dr. O'Brien as a Coeditor.

It is obvious to the reader that Coeditors Masters and O'Brien are located at NASA Langley Research Center as I am. This enables us to handle much more efficiently the day-to-day business of the Journal and coordinate activities. We have different research interests and approaches, therefore, the Journal readership and contributors should benefit from our expeditious handling of articles concerning our varying expertise.

W. Steven Johnson
Editor in Chief