Letter from the Editor

In keeping with the progressive aims of the Journal of Testing and Evaluation, the members of the Editorial Board have found it informative to highlight the breadth of the scope of articles solicited for inclusion in JOTE. Hence, we have introduced a subtitle, starting with this issue, to emphasize the multidisciplinary nature of the Journal. It is hoped that this inclusion will encourage readers to consider submission of papers on a wide range of topics connected with the science and engineering of testing and evaluation in the fullest sense.
