

Your Content + Our Services = New Opportunities

Integrated technology services, from collaboration and document development tools to content subscription offerings, plus expert technical and media support. Stay in control of your proprietary data and reduce reliance on third-party distributors.

Collaborate with ASTM SpecBuilder

Simplify internal document development with our collaboration tool ASTM SpecBuilder. Based on the same intelligent standards development interface used by 30,000+ ASTM members, creating and publishing your content has never been easier. Develop any document within one single platform. Invite stakeholders, upload ballots, leave feedback, and vote – with 24/7 access for all users.

Multimedia Services

Take advantage of a full suite of multimedia services to create high-level photos and videos to promote your products and educate stakeholders. Our top-notch video and design professionals can create any kind of content you need - from instructional and procedural videos to formal interview segments and product announcements and advertisements. Enjoy access to a full range of photography and design services, including 2D/3D renderings and animations of your technical apparatuses and materials.

Professional Sales and Support

Get full technical and organizational support for your products, from the first consultation to post-launch customer service. Our experienced sales and marketing team can expand awareness of your offerings and uncover new revenue streams. And your members and customers can also count on live assistance, with your own service representatives only a phone call away.

Your Content on ASTM Compass®

Expand your global footprint and visibility when you feature your content in one of the most comprehensive online libraries of technical information in the world. Our 100,000+ Compass customers, including academic and government users, can subscribe to and access your documents without ever leaving the platform.

Create a Subscription Platform

Create your own organizational subscription platform based on the dynamic ASTM Compass® product. Subscribers can view and download your content on a portal developed by ASTM as a modern way to access and work with standards and technical documents. Your subscribers will benefit from seamless access to dynamic documents in PDF and enjoy optional support for HTML formats, plus be able to manage, change, and share content using powerful tools for version comparison and hyperlinking.

Contact us to get started today!

sales@astm.org | tel +1.877.909.2786 | go.astm.org/INTS