REFERENCES ON FATIGUE

STP No. 9-C

This is a list of references to articles published in 1951 dealing with fatigue. (A similar list, made available in 1951, included 1950 references.) Brief abstracts of the articles have been included when these were readily available. This list is not exhaustive but is sufficiently extensive to be of interest to those concerned with this field.

Both the nature and format of this list is experimental. References are generally so arranged that sheets can be readily cut apart for filing according to any desired plan. If there is sufficient interest in lists such as this, additional lists will be made available annually.

Comments and suggestions concerning the value and format of this list would be appreciated. Correspondence should be addressed to
